625 MILES
OF THE
UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD
Running West from Omaha
ACROSS THE CONTINENT,
ARE NOW COMPLETED.
THIS BRINGS THE LINE TO THE EASTERN BASE of the Rocky Mountains and it is expected that the track will be laid thirty miles further to Fort Lyon by the highest point on the road, by January. The maximum grade from the foot of the mountains to the summit is but eighty feet to the mile, which (that of many eastern roads is over one hundred. Work in the rock cuttings on the western slope will not be through the winter, and there is now no reason to doubt that the entire grand line to the Pacific will be open for business in 1870.
The means provided for the construction of this Great National Work are ample. The United States grants its Six Per Cent Bonds at the rate of from $16,000 to $48,000 per mile, for which it takes a second lien as security and receives payment to a large if not to the full extent of its claim in services. These bonds are issued as each twenty mile section is finished, and after it has been examined by the United States Commissioners and pronounced to be in all respects a first class road thoroughly supplied with depots, repair shops, stations, and all the necessary rolling stock and other equipments.
The United States also makes a donation of 12,800 acres of land to the mile, which will be a source of large revenue to the Company. Each of this land in the Platte Valley is among the most fertile in the world, and other large portions are covered with heavy pine forests and abound in cost of the best quality.
The Company is also authorized to issue its own First Mortgage Bonds to an amount equal to the issue of the Government and no more. Hon E. D. Morgan and Hon. Oakes Ames are Trustees for the Bondholders, and deliver the bonds to the Company only as the work progresses, so that they always represent an actual and productive value.
The authorized capital of the Company is One Hundred Million Dollars, of which over Three Millions have been paid in upon the work already done.

EARNINGS OF THE COMPANY.
At present, the profits of the Company are derived only from its local traffic, but this is already much more than sufficient to pay the interest on all the Bonds the Company can issue, if not another mile were built. It is not doubted that when the road is completed the through traffic of the only line connecting the Atlantic and Pacific States will be large beyond precedent and as there will be no competition it can always be done at profitable rates.
It will be noticed that the Union Pacific Railroad is, in fact, a Government Work, built under the supervision of Government officers and to a large extent with Government money, and that its bonds are issued under Government direction. It is believed that no similar security is so carefully guarded, as it certainly no other is based upon a larger or more valuable property. As the Company's

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS
are offered for the present at 95 CENTS ON THE DOLLAR, IN U. S. CURRENCY, they are the cheapest security in the market, being more than 15 per cent. lower than U. S. Stocks. They pay

SIX PER CENT. IN GOLD, or over NINE PER CENT. upon the investment. Subscriptions will be received in Portland by

A NEW PAMPHLET AND MAP, showing the Progress of the Work, Resources for Construction, and Value of Bonds, may be obtained at the Company's Offices or of its advertised Agents, or will be sent free on application.

The Presidency Ahead—Grant—Chase
It is well known that Horace Greeley supports Chase for the Presidency, though it is apparent to everybody that Grant will be the nominee. Greeley's views in regard to the matter are stated in a candid and temperate manner in the following article which he publishes in the Independent:
Senator Wilson's able and forcible presentment of his reasons for supporting Gen. Grant as the Republican candidate for next President have, ere this, been widely and earnestly pondered. This was due alike to the importance of the subject and the character of the writer. Let me now "show my opinion" of Chief Justice Chase's qualifications, and indicate some of my reasons for preferring him to Gen. Grant, or any suggested competitor.
I. Salmon P. Chase, born in 1809, is in the ripe maturity of his powers. He is unquestionably among the ablest Americans now living. He has been more than thirty years familiar with public affairs, and has filled with honor the responsible posts of U. S. Senator (to which he was twice elected for a full term of six years), Governor of Ohio (to which he was also twice elected), Secretary of the Treasury, and Chief Justice of the United States, which he now holds. No man now living has enjoyed larger opportunities for qualifying himself for the Chief Magistracy, and I think none has more fully improved them. So far as talents, character, experience, and eminent services can qualify a man for President of the United States, Leubmit that no one can present stronger claims to public confidence than he does. And he has held no station which did not derive additional dignity and public respect from his conduct therein.
II. When I speak of "claims to public confidence," I do not mean claims to office. No one can lay claim to so lofty, so important a post as the Presidency. Mr. Chase now holds a highly responsible trust, General Grant holds another such. Each is held practically for life. General Grant's is far the better paid, but the country does not grudge him a dime of his compensation, and hopes he may live to earn and enjoy it these forty years. And yet the divine rule, "Render unto Cæsar," etc., is nowise strained in the application which indicates that exalted Military achievement should be recognized and rewarded by Military promotion; and the same rule applies to eminent civil service as well.
III. Let any able, strong man be asked, "Which post would you accept as the less arduous—if our civil war were now just begun—that of Generalissimo of the Union armies, or that of Secretary of the Treasury, with its endless perspective of negotiating loan after loan, to the extent of two billions of dollars, on the heel of an expected appalling national disaster?"—and I feel confident that nine tenths would respond, "However poorly qualified for either or both of these responsibilities, I would prefer undertaking the military rather than the financial trust." And I affirm that no man's services in putting down the rebellion were more essential, more important, than those of the man who devised and gave effect to the measures whereby our Federal Treasury was kept in working order.
IV. The main question to be decided in our approaching Presidential contest is emphatically one of Principle. It concerns the fundamental basis of Democratic popular government. "Shall four millions of American people be permanently disfranchised and denied any voice in their government because of their color?" Sham Democracy says, "Yes; they are 'niggers'! Shut their mouths! paralyze their arms! trample them under foot!" And every unchanged rebel at the South, every malignant Copperhead at the North, shouts, "Yes! yes! disfranchise them! stifle their voice! they are 'niggers'! Give them over into the power of those who hate them for their lack of sympathy with the slaveholders' rebellion!" They who thus feel will vote against any man whom our side may nominate. You can't make Republicans of them any how; you may fix it. They are for a "white man's government" with a Copperhead at the helm. Whether we run Grant, Chase, or some third person, for President, they will do their worst to defeat him.
Give Chase and Gen. Grant, we will assume, are both favorable to impartial suffrage. Whichever one he will have the Republicans' support and the Copperheads' deadly opposition. But with this difference:
Gen. Chase has for twenty years stood up for Equal Rights, irrespective of color. He stood for the principle when its advocates were but a handful, and when Slavery was rampant, aggressive, invincible. There has never, since 1848, been a doubt of his devotion to Impartial Liberty. He did not falter when he stood in the Senate all but alone. If he is nominated, he need not say a word on the subject. The Convention need say nothing. He is a platform in itself—a very broad and firm one.
General Grant, I have assumed, is essentially in accord with Governor Chase on this point. But many do not know this, and will insist on asking pointed questions, which must be answered. "When did the General first take ground for Impartial Suffrage? How much does he mean by the phrase? Why do such men as Montgomery Blair and Thurlow Weed profess to be for him if he does not hate niggers, and seek to grind them under his heel? How came the Copperheads to think of making him their candidate? Why have they seemed to laud him down to this hour?" When these questions have been answered—as they must be—Grant Democrats will be scarce as white blackbirds.
V. Meantime, we shall have strengthened the enemy by creating a very general impression that we are afraid of the suffrage issue. For, however hearty Gen. Grant may be on the right side of the main question, it is undeniable that neither he nor his friends have been in haste to declare themselves thereon. The General has kept quiet while such conspicuous Grant organs as the Times and the Commercial Advertiser have persistently assailed impartial suffrage.
VI. I do not know a single person who has clung to the Republican standard in view of "the chances," yet who fairly hates the concession of political franchises to the colored race who is not red-mouthed for Grant. Be the reason what it may, the fact is incontestible.
VII. Were he, Chase nominated and elected, that would be the end of controversy respecting political rights as affected by color. We are in turmoil now, because Andrew Johnson has betrayed and deserted those who elected him, carrying the vast power of his office over to the adversary. But for that, the South would have been quietly reconstructed and settled months ago. Elect Gov. Chase, and the yet implacable rebels would imitate the strategy of Capt Martin Scott's men. They would realize at once that further resistance could not avail, and would come down.
VIII. In 1868, Edwin D. Morgan was chosen Governor of this State by 17,410 majority. He at once recommended Impartial Suffrage. Two successive Republican legislatures enacted and re-enacted it. It then went to the people simultaneously with the canvass for re-election, and was voted down by 140,181 majority; yet at that very election Gov. Morgan was reelected by 63,400 majority. So Gen. R. B. Hayes was chosen Governor of Ohio last fall and the entire Republican State ticket triumphed with him, though Impartial Suffrage was voted down at the same election by some 40,000 majority. And precisely similar results have been exhibited in Wisconsin and Minnesota. The few weak brethren who vote against Suffrage for Blacks, or withhold their votes on this question, vote regularly for the Republican candidates.
Such are some of the reasons which seem to me to counsel Republicans to challenge public respect and confidence by nominating for President their ablest, strongest man—one in whom the whole country will recognize the fullest embodiment of their principles. That man, I respectfully submit, is Salmon P. Chase, of Ohio, now Chief Justice of the United States—a native of the East, long a resident of the West, of spotless private character and unsurpassed public services. We can elect him for we can triumph on no principles of we have courage and faith to trust the people to uphold them. What is needed in general enlightment. Put the multitudes of our best Republican journals regularly into the country year into the hands of their readers, show them why they would be safe in trusting themselves if they should vote to defeat either half of their own number, and we must succeed. Our press hitherto has been that we have claimed it is nearly, or all any just, while its sentinels on our watch towers have been exciting prejudice against Impartial Suffrage, by calling it hard names. Let us, for once, "show to the line, let the chips fall where they may."

The Tribulations of the Democracy
ALARM OF THE NEW YORK DEMOCRACY—PENDLETON TO BE KILLED OFF—COMMODORE VANDERBILT A CANDIDATE.
[New York Correspondence of the Charleston (S. C.) Courier.]
It appears, after all, that the unanimous endorsement of Pendleton out west has alarmed the leaders of the Eastern Democracy, most all of whom belong to the great railroad and banking interests of the country. These leaders comprise men like August Belmont, William Butler Duncan, Samuel J. Tilden, Erastus, Corning, John J. Cisco, S. L. M. Barlow, Senator Murphy, and numerous other gentlemen occupying prominent positions in the commercial, social and political world. As in times past, so to day there exists no doubt but that this clique, if I may so call it, will again control the National Democratic Convention. But one the same gentlemen who, about two months ago, attempted to run Grant, but since then events have been too strong even for them, the Democratic masses being unwilling to touch Grant. They at heart regret this disposition, plainly manifested by the rank and file of their party, and would wish that things were different, but they think it a still greater misfortune if the greenback policy of Pendleton and Butler should happen to be endorsed by the Democracy of New York, Pennsylvania and the Eastern States. The idea of paying the principal and interest of the debt in greenbacks is considered by them fraught with so many ultimate dangers to the country and its future prosperity, that nothing will be left undone by them to combat it with all the power at their command.
With an eye to the future prosperity of the country, these gentlemen perceive that, though temporarily such a policy may lessen the burdens of our people, still, ultimately, the vast interests with which they, and through them thousands of others, are principally connected, will suffer to an extent which will not compensate for the relief afforded by a greenback policy. The discredit thus created would lose to the United States thousands of millions in loans which would otherwise be invested in this country. Europe to day is sorely agitated. There is scarcely a country there where disturbances are not imminent, everywhere the governments and people are preparing for some great strife, either foreign or domestic, and nearly all industrial interests are more or less paralyzed. European capitalists are disposed to prepare for the onslaught whensoever it may come, and they naturally only await the result of the political transformation now progressing South, to see this country once more enjoy an era of peace and prosperity, quite tempting to invest large sums in American enterprises. With the credit of the United States unimpaired, and the country promising continued progress in the development of its grand resources, millions of dollars will be withdrawn from Europe, and find their way for investment in this country.
But, in order to obtain the confidence of foreign capitalists, the greenback humbug, as it is here called, must be got rid of, and the gentlemen above mentioned have taken hold of the matter, in its apparent infancy, with a will that may possibly result in its being killed off long before the Democratic convention meets. For that purpose new combinations have recently been set on foot and new men have been brought on the stage of action, which will give quite a different aspect to the state of parties two months hence. They have also cast about for a man of conservative principles, who, by the popularity of his name, would counterbalance the effect of any popularity attached out West to the greenback Pendleton policy. This man is Commodore Vanderbilt, of New York. As matters stand to day, he is the first choice of the class of Democratic leaders I have above alluded to, and after taking a general survey of the field, there exists no reason why the Tildens, the Belmonts and the Cornings should not succeed in manipulating the convention in such a manner as to make the Commodore the standard bearer of the progressive Democracy of the country. Mr. Vanderbuilt is now associated with all the railroad magnates of the country. Having already the three great railroad lines of the State—the Hudson River, the Central and Harlem roads—under his control, his ambition naturally leads him to the idea of obtaining possession of the Pacific Railroad with the city of New York, and ultimately to take a hand in the completion of that great scheme which will connect the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. Of all the men in this country he advances this great interest is Commodore Vanderbilt. After making an immense fortune, he, by taking an interest in them all, and being finally elected to the Presidency of the respective roads, succeeded in pushing Harlem stock up to 120, Hudson River to 140, and his administration of the Central has brought the stock from 94 to 125. He is now endeavoring to get possession of the Lake Shore Railroad, with the ultimate view of being the Railroad King from Chicago to New York. Apart from his railroad interests, Commodore Vanderbilt is enjoying an extraordinary popularity, owing to his affiliation with all classes of people. As an admirer of fast horses he is well known in sporting circles, and has quite intimate business relations with the class of men of whom John Morrissey is the acknowledged chief. As a successful financier he has hosts of friends in Wall street, and as a man of strict business habits, probity and integrity, he enjoys the confidence of all classes of the mercantile community. A sterling Democrat, he nevertheless enjoys the respect of the most ultra Republicans, who cannot forget his noble act, when, during the war, he made a present to the Government of his magnificent steamer, the Vanderbilt, costing over one million of dollars and that at a time when the Government needed true friends. His views on all questions of politics are strongly conservative, and when elected to the Presidency of the United States no New England metaphysics nor radical fanaticism will be permitted to approach within a radius of twenty miles from the capital. Such are the latest developments to which the constant differences, now almost daily held among our prominent men, have led them.

BAD APPOINTMENTS AND FRAUDS. The World charges all the frauds in whisky on the appointees of the late President Lincoln. Now the Internal Revenue appointments made by Mr. Lincoln were the best set of officers ever made in this country. Up to the time that Herod of Johnson began to make removals for spoils sake, it is believed by experienced persons that not one dollar had been lost to the Government by the defalcation or dishonesty of any Internal Revenue Collector, although hundreds of millions had been collected. The Collectors, Assessors and Assistant Assessors were selected with reference to their qualifications for business, and not for their ability to "run the machine."
We do not deny that manufacturers of distilled spirits were guilty of frauds on the revenue when the tax was only twenty cents a gallon. But the cheating has been developed to its huge proportions of wrong and infamy within the last two years and to the removal of one hundred and fourteen Collectors and one hundred and sixteen Assessors, and of one thousand one hundred and thirty one assistant assessors out of three thousand one hundred and of seven revenue agents out of ten such, and of sixty five revenue inspectors out of two hundred and nineteen in the service. There were only one hundred and thirty-five revenue inspectors December 31st, 1865—as to be attributed the large amount of fraud in distilled spirits and tobacco within the last two years.
Those removals have tended to demoralize the revenue service, have let in bad men and made it so who had been faithful in the discharge of duty negligent, careless, and perhaps, in some cases, participants in fraud. Mr. Rollins, the faithful and excellent Commissioner, whose integrity is above suspicion, says in his last report "I believe a prompt dismissal for negligence, loose competency or fraud would secure a very large part of the revenue due under the tax of $2 per gallon."—N. Y. Evening Post.

The directors of the bureau of statistics furnishes the following: that for the year 1866 and the two quarters to 1867 there were returns for the last quarter of 1867 being incomplete—the number of immigrants to this country was one million five hundred and fifty nine thousand and during the same eight years the number of passengers landing at New York was two hundred and fifty one thousand more than the first named.

Another theory of the class escape has been found in St. Louis, being a dog's collar, supposed to have belonged to Julius Cæsar, from the fact of having his name engraved on it.

The post office department has on hand more than 10,000 photographs of Union soldiers, taken from dead letters, which accumulated during the war. No one has yet been able to devise a plan by which the relatives of the soldiers can obtain the pictures as in many cases they would doubtless be very glad to do.

Senator Trumbull on Reconstruction

We published a few days since a brief synopsis of the speech delivered in the Senate by Trumbull, of Illinois on the 21st January, in reply to an impudent and egotistical performance by the renegade Doolittle, of Wisconsin Doolittle had assailed the reconstruction acts, and come out squarely on the side of the Copperheads, delivering a speech which was fully up to the standard of Fernando Wood and Pendleton If was a carefully prepared oration, and at its close Jerry Black and other rebel sympathizers gave the treacherous Senator the right hand of fellowship and welcomed him among them Trumbull replied to Doolittle without a moment's delay, and completely annihilated the cheap logic which the latter had manufactured to support the Johnson rebel cause. The synopsis which we gave of this speech was only a telegraphic summary, and we recur to it at this time for the sake of bringing more prominently before our readers the main points of the whole performance These may be stated as follows:

If the party who oppose the Congressional plan of reconstruction are the best friends of the Constitution and the Union, it is not a little remarkable that that party embraces within its organization all the men who have fought to destroy the Constitution and the Union, and that the hundreds of thousands who went forth to battle for the majesty of the laws, and who, with hardly an exception, support the reconstruction policy of Congress, have become the enemies of constitutional government. Is the world to be made to believe that all those who have proved their devotion to the Constitution and the Union are now seeking their destruction and that they who but yesterday hazarded their all for their overthrow are now their only defenders?

We have only to be resolute, and reconstruction will soon be accomplished The country is not in peril. It is still in the same hands that preserved it through far more trying dangers The friends of the country defended it against the armed millions of the South and their Northern allies, and the same fidelity will enable them to keep it out of the hands of disarmed rebels and their political friends

There is no truth in the assertion that there is any attempt to place the South under negro supremacy. If the white people of those States are subjected to any such supremacy, it is because they choose it. They have a large majority of the popular vote, and a large majority in the Convention of every State except perhaps that of South Carolina. If they choose to take no part in affairs, they have themselves only to blame

The "military despotism" that is complained of is far more than preserves the peace and enforces order It is not oppressive in any sense it subjects none except the turbulent and lawless It is only temporary, and would end at once if the rebel population would quietly submit to the reasonable requirements of those by whose patriotism the country was preserved

It is stated that those who are disfranchised are the abject and best men of the South. This is an assertion that the best men of that section are those who headed the rebellion and led the masses of the people into it. It is also a confession that the disfranchised class are men who are not only responsible for their own perjury and treason, but for the treason of the whole people For this class of men, disfranchisement is a light punishment.

The complaint that the Senate has refused to admit Senators elected by the Legislatures of the Johnson governments, though Congress had asked those Legislatures to ratify a constitutional amendment it should. The admission of the men that it did not recognise those governments as legitimate. If a proposition is made and rejected, the party making it is not bound by it. It might as well be contended that when President Lincoln, in 1864, went down to James river, entered into negotiations with the agents of the rebel Government and submitted to them propositions which they rejected, he thereby recognized the rebel Government as legitimate. The rebel States failed to accept the terms proffered in the amendment, and Congress refused to recognize their government as legal. The State governments which had existed there prior to the rebellion had been overthrown, and those States were without civil governments which could be recognized by Congress Johnson undertook to erect governments, and failed Congress refused to recognise State governments which had been placed in the hands of the very leaders of the rebellion. No legitimate governments can exist there until they are recognised as such by the action of Congress

All the powers which the President ever had over the subject of reconstruction were those which belonged to him as Commander in Chief The President has no power granted by the Constitution to inaugurate governments anywhere and all he did was done under color of military authority And whatever power of this sort he might have had, he was subject to the rules and regulations of Congress. This fact was always recognized by President Lincoln

"Congress," says Trumbull "has in the exercise of its discretion decided that except in Tennessee no loyal, legal governments have yet been organized in the rebel States That is the end of that question Nobody else can decide it It does not belong to the President, he has nothing to do with it It does not belong to the judiciary, that department has nothing to do with it As well might the judiciary have undertaken by a process in the hands of a Marshal to stop the march of our advancing armies as they went through the rebel States, as to attempt now to compel them to withdraw and Congress to recognize as valid governments set up in defiance of its authority As well might the judiciary undertake to say how the army shall march and when it shall fight as to say when it shall withdraw from South Carolina Is the court to issue a writ of error, either prosecuting the war to leave one of the rebel states? Congress says to the military, Stay there for the protection of this nation It says to the commanding officer, Preserve the peace there for the safety of the people make use as far as you can, of any local organizations or tribunals to assist you but the moment you see that they are interfering with the peace of the country or with your military authority, suppress them and establish there That is military control and that control must continue till legitimate civil governments can be established

Spirit of the State Press

In the following paragraph the [illegible] tells what an ungrateful set the Democracy are

It is pretty certain that the Democracy are going to throw off on Ben Hayden, and bring into the field Congress some summer's liberal sunshine; strict who went down a gallows when things began to cloud up equally for the party Mr Hayden is essentially a representative man of the Democracy He has fit hich, as I nearly died for his party, and has kept the concern together when it was actually dead and decomposed nevertheless with characteristic ingratitude it is now proposed to cheat him out of the nomination the presumption in that Mr Grover will be the chosen one forever and his friends have the most money, and the Dem crazy are awful fly

The following is from a leading article in the Statesman

The Democratic party have no principles other than a blind and obstinate opposition to every measure advanced by a "Radical Congress" With a marvelous fatuity, they are hanging on to doctrines that have been declared unsound by the arbitration of War, which have been thrown away among the rubbish of past ages, and which cannot be restored without a revolution Who but a fool would talk any longer of the exploded and extirpated theory of State Rights? or of abolitionism, when there is nothing more to abolish? or of negro suffrage in the South, when the right of suffrage once accorded, can never be withdrawn? If their speakers and writers will tell us what their living principles are, we will try to discuss them rationally and impartially, but we do not care to be employed on political antiquities, which have no little relevancy to the condition of the present, as the civil polity of Sardanapalus

In reply to the Copperhead assertion that the debt of the nation can never be paid, the State Journal says

If the debt can never be paid, the nation had better confess its bankruptcy at once This is what none but a deadly enemy of it would ever desire For if it shall ever be established that a republic cannot be relied upon to meet its engagements, it never could after that obtain the means of its defense, and this principle would make it an easy prey to the first conspiracy that attempted its destruction

Most of the Democratic papers stand up stiffly for the "time honored principles" and refuse to be "regenerated" In giving advice about the nomination of candidates, the Albany Democrat says

They should be uncompromising Democrats They should be men who have stood firmly by their principles—men whom the blandishments of office could not seduce, and whom neither obloquy, nor persecution, nor proscription, nor threats of confiscation, nor banishment, nor the terrors of a bastile, could cause to waver for a moment or to forsake the time honored principles of the Democratic party

The Umatilla Press is still more emphatic It gives notice in the following language that "no butcher need apply" for the support of the Confederate Democratic "masses"

We can see a disposition manifested on the part of many leading Democrats to yield to the baneful influence of policy, and fruit upon the Democracy a candidate for the Presidency having no other qualifications than a species of brute courage, displaying itself in the carnage of battle fields, sacking of cities, and devastation of homes Democrats should banish such ideas from their creed, and leave to the party whose temporary triumph has alone been achieved by bayonets, to such inhuman and unrepublican means of success The masses have had enough of such men and so has the poor, bleeding world We want no Shermans, Sheridans, Grants or Hancocks. Let it be the aim of every Democrat in Oregon that our delegation in the National Convention shall oppose, to the last, the selection of a military candidate

In its admiration of Southern society as it was before the rebellion, the Press says that "the purity of the African blood was then the constant care of the Southern planter." This probably means that the constant care of the Southern planter was to purify the African blood by mixing it with that of the "ruling race"—a hypothesis which is sustained by the fact that according to the census, there were nearly 500,000 mulattoes in the South in 1860

The Chronicle continues to protest against the "paramount authority" doctrine It says

The difference between the Herald editor and ourself on this subject is, he has "accepted the situation," so to speak, and gives in a quasi adhesion to the monstrous assumptions of the Mongrels, that the States have no rights of a nature paramount to and independent of the General Government, by using the phrase with a mental reservation, while we denounce the heresy tacitly confessed outright We do not choose to "accept" any "situation" which is in itself wrong

This causes Beriah to rise in excited haste to explain himself In order to define his position and establish his political orthodoxy, a matter which he deems essential, and even indispensable, to the salvation of his party, he goes over the entire ground in a leader more than a column in length, the whole of which is summed up in the two sentences which follow

We never acknowledged the right of a State to repudiate or override the Constitution—"the supreme law of the land" We never recognized the right of the General Government to subjugate States and overturn governments established by the people, or to exercise any other powers not expressly delegated to it.

This is Copperhead logic of the old sort A State has no right to secede, but if it does secede, the General Government has no right to use force to bring it to submission A State has no right to repudiate the Constitution, but if it does repudiate it, and set up a government hostile to the Constitution, the General Government has no right to "overturn" such pretended State government This is the very doctrine under which Buchanan permitted the rebel States to secede in 1860-61. It is the Copperhead doctrine in its primitive simplicity. And a charming doctrine it is to be reaffirmed at this period of our history!

The Courier has discovered a new source of alarm, and is grievously tormented therewith The "Grand Army of the Republic" haunts Jasper William's imagination, and he directs one of his most powerful articles against that organization He believes that its intention is to "overthrow the Republic," and he exhorts freemen to "look well to their liberties" For isn't it a reasonable supposition that those who have perilled their lives in their country's defence, many of whom have shed their blood for it and have returned to their homes "with half their limbs in battle lopped away," should now conspire for the overthrow of the Republic? The Courier thinks so, and hence it publishes the following which we copy verbatim

There are over one million of organized men,—"The grand army of the Republic," who like the Cæsar's Legions of the Republic of Rome, are ready to follow their Cæsar—Grant, across the Rubicon, and to the destruction of the citadel of liberty, with the same blind devotion of enthusiasm, and the same thoughtlessness of consequence that must necessarily fall upon their children like the burden of sin upon our father Adam

In the name of endangered liberty, and a Constitutional Republic, we appeal to you—fellow citizens, to weigh these matters well, and if you find sufficient evidence to convince you of the evil designs of these Despotists, that you at once and forever renounce them

Jasper's fear of "military despotists" evidently arises from his own experience As he himself on a certain occasion when holding a "military" position in Washington Territory, was beguiled into declaring martial law suspending the habeas corpus and committing other acts of tyranny he knows how great the danger is of allowing military despots an opportunity of destroying the liberties of the people

Gen Grant for President

The following letter is published It explains itself

NEW YORK, January 1st 1868

At a public meeting at the Cooper Institute on this city, held on the evening of December 9th 1867 attended by a vast number of our most thinking people, and visited by a throng unable to gain admittance sufficiently near to the building, General Ulysses S Grant was placed in nomination as the candidate of the people for the office of President of the United States

The multitude who participated on this occasion were assisted by Messrs Anderson Butler and other orators Citizens drawn from every class of profession and pursuit belonging to a class not usually found at political gatherings, and representing the industry, prosperity and intelligence of this great city, to a degree unknown on any previous occasion, of a public meeting convened for a like purpose Indeed, it appeared as if the people sickened with politics and politicians, and most anxious for the prosperity of their country, as if the perpetuity of our Union had met in their might and taken into their own hands the business of declaring, in advance of political conventions, who should be their next Chief Magistrate and Ruler It may also be remarked, that while ignoring politicians they likewise ignored platforms the expedient of politicians and determined to present the name of the man for President whose past services to our country gave us assurance that he is equally entitled to confidence whether occupying a civil office or leading our armies to victory

To effectuate this purpose, and to further, in all proper ways the nomination of General Grant the undersigned Committee emanating from that meeting, were appointed, in the belief that by communicating the views and actions of that vast assemblage to their fellow countrymen in all parts of the Union, it would stimulate others, controlled by like desires, to break from the lead of the mere political traders who have too long held the people in bondage, and, as business men and lovers of our country, meet together in their various villages, towns and cities, and with one voice announce as their common choice for President, the name of General Ulysses S Grant

It is for this object we address you entertaining the hope that you will at once take measures towards bringing about a public meeting in your locality, called men of business and all true citizens who, regardless of party, and seeking alone the prosperity of our country, are willing to forget political strife, and join hands in one united effort to place in the Presidential office the man who, of all others named for that high position, is emphatically the choice of the people

Knowing that you will, in a matter so vitally affecting the future prosperity of our country, be governed by like motives as controlled us in entering upon this movement, and that your position in the community where you reside, will enable you to shape, if not lead, public opinion in your locality, we trust, that on receipt of this, after conference with your neighbors you will at once issue a call for a public meeting, irrespective of party for the nomination of General Grant as the choice of the people for President of the United States

We will be much pleased to hear your views, and be informed of the state of the public mind in your district respecting this movement

All communications may be addressed to Henry Hilton, Chairman of the Executive Committee, No 262 Broadway, New York

Very respectfully yours,

ALEX T STEWART, Chairman

CAVE SEE IT.—Sometime ago the Oregon Herald published the following in an editorial article

Whatever may be said of Mr Johnson's personal or political character, it cannot be denied that the country owes to him a more lasting debt of gratitude than to any other man now living To fully appreciate this we have but to reflect what the country would now be with such a man as Ben Wade, or such a man as the Radicals unanimously took Andrew Johnson for, in the Presidential chair.

The Idaho World, edited by O'Meara, and of course soundly "Democratic," comes back in reply to the above in the following pungent style

We can't see where the "gratitude" comes in According to Mr Johnson's own recent admission in State documents, he is simply carrying out the policy determined upon by Mr. Lincoln His late appointment of that cowardly, mob law supporting, and egotistical old military pretender, Gen McDowell, to Ord's late Military District South, is enough to disgust any Democrat, to say nothing of his perfidy to the Democratic party in 1861, of his subsequent Radical usurpations and tyrannies of his culpability in the atrocious murder of Mrs Surratt, and of many other of his very reprehensible acts within the past year. Neither the Democracy nor the people owe Andrew Johnson any gratitude. It is his natural disposition to act the ingrate, we believe, more than any innate patriotism or excellence, which prompts him to now oppose the Radicals who placed him in power.

WHY COPPERHEADS GROAN.—That Copperheads and rebels should hate the national debt and seek to swindle the public creditors, we can fully understand That debt is a necessary and onerous result of the slaveholders' rebellion It symbolizes the efforts and sacrifices whereby our national existence was preserved. Whenever a poor man buys food or clothing for his family, he is compelled to pay some share of his hard earnings to defray the inevitable cost of raising the national flag over the forts, arsenals, armories, etc, whenever the rebels had torn it down and trampled it in the mire. If, says the N Y Tribune, the Government had not succeeded in borrowing enormous sums, the rebellion must have succeeded and become a revolution Of course, whoever wishes it had succeeded, whether in dividing our country, or in "reconstructing" it on the basis of slavery everywhere and always, hates the debt, libels its holders, and will swindle them if he can

The Union voters of Hillsboro precinct met at the court house in Hillsboro, on the 21st inst, at half past six o'clock, P. M., and organized a Union Club, the objects of which are "to advocate the principles of the Union party, and disseminate correct political information."

The following are the permanent officers W D Hare, President, T D Humphrey and W O Gibson, Vice Presidents, G G Long, Secretary and Benj Hartman Treasurer

The Club meets on Saturdays at 1 o'clock P M

The lovers of the grandeur of natural scenery will regret to learn that geologists and attentive observers have decided the days of Niagara, the stupendious and magnificent, are numbered and limited It is said the great limestone formation eighty or ninety feet in depth, over which the cataract pours is underland by shale fifty feet deep, and this again by softer shales and marles Half a mile above the falls it is said the river has found a fissure into the softer substratum, and is gradually and surely undermining the great fall

The Post says that Montana produced for the year ending July 1st, 1866, $18,000 000 in gold for the year ending July 1st, 1867, $12,000 000 a decrease of one third in a year Such is the report of the Commissioner It may not be strictly accurate but, compiled from reliable statistics by competent persons, it at least approximates closely to correctness

The Desert Times is the name of a new paper published at St. George, Utah The editor says he has pitched his tent and all his fixtures in the mouth of an old volcano St George is three hundred and fifty miles south of Salt Lake City, and has a population of fifteen hundred inhabitants The country all the Dixie is a desert according to general report

Capt Jas A Brotherton company D 1st Cavalry met his death a few days since in the Malheur river by accidentally shooting himself through the head with a Henry rifle His death is deeply deplored by his brother officers and associates

Rather Rough Challenge.—

THE BILLIARD TABLE a monthly New York paper of that name published in the interest of Kavanagh & Becker, Billiard Manufacturers, of New York, has the following challenge in its November number which we consider worthy to call the attention of our Billiard Manufacturers of this State

CHALLENGE We will place $1000 in the hands of any responsible party of capitalists, any manufacturers or manufacturers of Billiard Tables in the world shall sign into a willing agreement to test the merits of his or their cushions with ours, and to venture a like sum on the decision The cushions to be submitted to the examination of a committee of impartial and scientific men who shall have power to investigate their merits thoroughly by actual trial with balls dissected, etc

This wager is not offered for the purpose of winning money, but solely to afford convincing proof that the cut-gut cushion is superior to all others and we should prefer that the money staked should go to some charitable object

We invite the especial attention of Messrs Phelan & Collender to this challenge fe27d2p6t

A New Hoisting Machine.—Mr. Nash, of the Willamette Iron Works, received by the last steamer the model of a patent hoisting machine the invention of Mr. Joseph Moore of San Francisco. The shipment of the machine has been with the view of enabling the Willamette Works to undertake their manufacture and sale in this city. The machine is up to the latest improvements as yet, with the most perfect ease it may be handled to raise an engine weighing compared with the power of slight structure. The great advantage of the machine is that however great the weight it can be raised if wanted at will, or lowered as easily, just in the up and down pipe gross. This is secured by a friction brake and a check lever. The machine can be operated by steam or any other power with equal facility. We pass it by the operation of the invention that no material loss of power several times with the greatest ease and ease as it is. The forged crank and brake put up in perfect order of them in San Francisco at rest and warehouses last summer and they are coming daily in more general use, all their hoisting machines being so easily useful in power and economy of space. Mr. Nash will time to time be well to telegraph to Mr. Hill-Rock, down in San Francisco, to effect a contract with Mr. Moore, at once for the right to manufacture them here.

Circuit Court Upon Juries.—The following proceedings were had in the Circuit Court, yesterday the 27th:

C. B. Comstock & Co. vs. D. W. Williams, action on contract for delivery of nails. Jury empaneled.

C. B. Comstock & Co. vs. D. W. Williams, verdict of jury for defendant, and judgment for $800. Motion filed for new trial. Stout & Reed for plaintiffs, Mitchell Dolph & Smith for defendant.

State of Oregon vs. Wing Choy, verdict of jury, guilty as charged in the indictment—keeping a bawdy house. defendant sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and costs of be imprisoned fifty days. Motkey for State, Dyer & Fir rish and McCoy for defendant.

J. D. Tackleberry et al. vs. J. T. Gerow—action on ac count for labor performed, jury empaneled. Hill fo plaintiffs, Mitchell, Dolph & Smith for defendant.

A Bawdy House Broken.—Marshal Jacobs informs us that the house of a woman on Taylor street, between Second and Third was broken into by a burglar, about 1 o'clock on the night of the Third street burglary. The woman was rescued from sleep by the bursting in of the door of her room, when she cried out "who is there" and called "Charley Charley" as if rousing a man, when the burglar fled, taking with him a bundle of clothing from a back room through which he had gained entrance. The police, upon being informed of the fact visited and made an examination of the premises. They found the rear door had been forced by breaking the lock an inside door communicating with the woman's sleeping room who forced from its hinges. The value of the clothing stolen was about $50. No clue as yet has been discovered as to the identity of the burglar, but it is plain enough that the scoundrels are not all caged yet.

Stock Breeding.—This country is not likely to suffer any immediate scarcity of blooded stock horses. Added to the numbers already here, we have had within a few days, quite a number of "distinguished arrivals." Mr. Pete Smith's speed has returned from the east brought out "Young Publisher," a mare imported from New England, as a three year old stallion. His sire was "French Morrill" of Vermont, and his dam of full blood Messenger stock. He is said to years old, and said to be the fastest trotting stock horse ever brought here. Mr. Smith paid $2,500 for a half interest in the animal. Another half interest owned in San Leandro. He will keep him in this city and at Oakland. On the same steamer Mr. Bingham brought up two blooded horses—"Norwich," a full brother to "Norwich," whose a large consignment, both of them of running stock. These importations will be a valuable addition to the stock of the State.

Within a few days since we published a dispatch from Victoria in substance that the reported arrival of a French Field Corps at that city, together with dispatches from San Francisco concerning Fenian designs on the city, had created considerable excitement, that Admiral Hastings was on the alert, and that the authorities were taking active steps to secure themselves, etc. We have since received the Victoria Colonist published about the time the excitement began, and we find in it an item under the head of "Re, S, St, Rw, Fshr," to which the whole matter is very sensibly treated as a matter of no consequence. It is refreshing to find one Johnny Taurus not satisfied with a chronic Fenian scare. There is probably alive who would not prefer a roast potato to any one article of food, to the fattest and best Johnny now living on Vancouver Island.

Opposition.—Rumors of an opposition ship line between here and San Francisco are getting again. The report comes to us second-hand from the Continental, who states that the Pacific Steamship Company will soon place the and the America on this route. How much may be placed on these reports, we are unable to say, but that the above steamers will be found extending their line to the Columbia river, is certain. The prevailing high rates of freight and scarcity of sailing tonnage, conspire to liberally encourage the opposition lines. It seems to be the only way by which our produce interests may escape serious embarrassment.

National Quarry Gazette.—Prof. Lachlanger, President of the National Business College of Portland, has issued with the first number of Vol. 2, of the National College Gazette, a thirteen page issue, filled mostly with the doing matter and articles explanatory of the principles upon which the college is conducted. It is designed by the editor states, to issue the Gazette, hereafter, every week giving it a free circulation of 10,000 copies per week. The first page of this number has a wood cut illustration, a photograph, of the front of Carter's Block, in which the college is kept. The Gazette is not only a large sheet, but contains much valuable information, especially to young men just about to begin a business career.

Census.—The census of school district No. 1, of this county, just completed by Mr. I. M. Parrish, the clerk, the number of legal voters to be 504, number of children over 4 and under 20, 1,721; number of males, 1,000; number of females, 872. The district is at present bonded to the whole amount of $7,000 per annum, which is at the rate of about $7,000 per annum. The total amount of taxes assessed the last year is $1,200.00. The total expenditures of the district, including the cost of block 80 and the erection thereon of the school house amounted to $2,315 02.

Public School Examination.—The semi-annual examination of the pupils of the Beth Israel school took place on Wednesday and yesterday, Miss H. R. Phillips, Esq., attending the exercises in English, and Rev. Dr. Schwab examining in the German and Hebrew departments. We had but a brief time to visit this school, but from the character of the examination and the proficiency of the pupils, we are led to the belief that it should properly rank, in all the branches, with the best schools of the city.

Police Court.—The greater part of yesterday was occupied in the Recorder's court by the trial of Antoine Ferrara, charged with publishing obscene pictures with the intent of corrupting the morals of persons attached. The following jurors were summoned: J. Donnasky, W. M. Torney, J. Bubler, J. Buchanan, Jos. Keyes and N. Kennedy, who heard the case. The government counsel and returned a verdict of not guilty. Frederick for the prosecution, Caples for the defendant.

Salem Items.—Mr. O. A. Brown arrived from Salem last evening, for the purpose of taking charge of the Silaus Hotel, temporarily by the police officers here, by Mr. Brown from Superintendent Huntington. There are five of them, one of whom has been absent from the city for two years. One of them, a squaw, was taken to the Sisters' Abbey of a house at Salem. Mr. Brown will start with them for Salem this morning, by the steamer.

Want of Police Force.—Marshal Jacobs has determined to appoint two additional night watchmen one for the southern portion of the city, and the other for the northwestern part. Watchmen are needed in both these localities, that as they must get the greater part of their time from the contributions of citizens on their respective beats, it will be necessary for the people to come out liberally, if they want this protective force sustained.

Down the Columbia.—The steamer Hunt made a trip to the Cascades yesterday, returning about half past four P. M. The Idaho came down, reporting the river as not yet breaking at the Dalles. The river is closed for about half a mile below the landing at the railroad depot, and above the Dalles as far as can be seen from, with no prospect of starting for a week yet. There was no catching fish between here and the Cascades.

Arrivals.—Arrived Thursday, 27th, per steamer Idaho from Oregon City, 142 gunnies bacon, 2,514 sacks flour, 4 boxes eggs, 40 boxes apples, 13 sks feed.

Steamer Alert, 3,540 qr sks flour, 580 bags wheat, 40 boxes apples, 10 bales of woolen goods, 2 dressed hogs 4 sks flour. Per Ranger, from Oregon City, 648 boxes apples 2 qr sks flour and 1 pkge trees.

Departures.—A number of the Directors of the Central Railroad, (the Perine road) are in this city, some of them having arrived by the up river steamer yesterday. We are not apprised of the business which brings them here, but suppose it has connection with the arrival of Messrs. Perine, Brooks and others from San Francisco.

The Burglaries.—Owing to the great length of the trial of Antoine Ferrara, in the case of the City vs. Antoine Ferrara, charged with publishing obscene pictures with the intent of corrupting the morals of persons attached, the third street burglars did not have an examination before the Recorder's court yesterday. Two of them, Kelly and Brooks, waive an examination, and the man who was last arrested, will have an examination this morning. He proposes as we learn, to prove an alibi.

Fern Oar Point.—The steamer Chuck returned from Fern Oar Point yesterday afternoon, having been as far only as Chuck Point, to which place she towed the bark Occident. Capt. Knox reports that he met with a good deal of running ice—probably that which is constantly breaking away from the shores.

Tax.—Mr. Parrish requests us to warn people owing school taxes that on the 1st of March he will proceed to collect, by levy on, and sale of property.

North Portland.—The new Odd Fellow's building in North Portland will probably be opened next week for the reception of guests.

To Sail.—The steamship Continental will sail hence for San Francisco, at 12 o'clock, noon, Saturday, 29th inst.

Attention Sale This Day.—Polk & Kraemer sell to-day at 10 o'clock, at sales rooms groceries, dry goods, furniture, chandelier, &c. At 11 o'clock they will sell the furniture and fixtures of a dwelling house on Salmon street.

Dr. Livingstone's Fate.—Dr. Livingstone's fate was the subject of a short discussion at the meeting of the Royal Geographical Society on the 12th of January. Before the commencement of the regular business, Sir Roderick Murchison, the Chairman, read a letter from Dr. Kirk, dated 4th October, Zanzibar, in which he mentioned that further rumors had been received of a white man in the centre of Africa, who, there was good reason to believe, was Dr. Livingstone. It was stated that he had met Speke's party, who had not yet arrived at Zanzibar, and Dr. Kirk hoped that when he (Kirk) arrived, his letter would be accompanied by some from Dr. Livingstone. Mr. Crawford made some remarks endeavoring the "Johanna man," as throwing doubt on the correctness of Dr. Livingstone's safety, though he admitted the evidence in its favor had become stronger.

Progress of the Central Pacific Railroad.—A correspondent of the Herald, writing from Cisco, January 6th, says: The road is now finished to the summit, and with a single break of about five miles at the lower side of Donner Lake, it is also complete to a point 24 miles down the Truckee, in Nevada. This line of five miles is graded, and by the first day of June the connection will be made. At the same time that the five miles is being put in working order the track will be laid from the point on the Truckee river to a point still further on where the road approaches nearest to Virginia City. The first train which crosses the summit, June 1, 1868, will set its passengers down within sixteen miles of the Comstock lodge. By the same day, gangs of 10,000 laborers will be at work out along the line of the Truckee and Humboldt, towards Salt Lake, and by the end of the present year, 200 miles of railroad will be laid down and put in running order.

Another New City.—Dale City, like Cheyenne, has sprung up as if by magic. About six weeks ago there were only two houses in the place. Now there are nearly one hundred. It stands on the summit of the Black Hills, on the Union Pacific Railroad, and will be the supply depot for timber, wood, rock and coal, for its use, east and west. It is located in a valley twenty-five miles wide, with soil equalling in richness the best of Illinois prairies. It is expected that the Denver branch will intersect the Union Pacific Railroad at the point. This, with the gold, iron and coal mines that have lately been discovered, will tend to make it a very prosperous place. Employment is plenty for laborers and business men. The city council has passed an ordinance prohibiting speculating in lots. All that is necessary is to record the claim in the Recorder's office, and build on and improve the lot.

Population of London.—The population of London is greater, by 800,082, than that of Liverpool, Manchester, Birmingham, Bristol, Hull, Newcastle, Salford, Bradford, Leeds and Sheffield put together. It is more than six times as large as Liverpool, and considerably larger than four such towns as Liverpool and Leeds taken together. It is to be expected, therefore, that the births and deaths in London will be very numerous. Accordingly it is reported that in the fifty two weekly reports published last year, the births reached 112,264, and the deaths numbered 70,588, that is to say, 308 children were born in London daily, or nearly 13 in every hour that passed. Similarly, 193 9 persons died in London daily, or eight in every hour.

Tronholm is the only one left of the many rich men that formerly lived in South Carolina. His wealth is said to have been acquired while secretary of the treasury under the Confederacy, a position which he seems to have improved to feather his nest nicely. Gov. Allen, who, before the war, was one of the richest men in the Palmetto State, has become poor enough to live upon, and the great body of the planters, traders and business men who once had handsome properties are now utterly destitute. Some have considerable tracts of land, but no money to buy the implements required for its cultivation.

Theodore Tilton's salary as editor in chief of the Independent has been advanced from $5,000 to $7,000 per annum. He is by far the best paid journalist in New York for the amount of work he does. Indeed, Horace Greeley is the only editor who receives so much as Tilton.

A man who had filed a petition for divorce was informed by his counsel that his wife had filed a "cross petition," as lawyers call it. "A cross petition" exclaimed the husband, "that's just like her. She never did a good natured thing in her life."

Oh Yes! Oh Yes! Oh Yes!—Attention, everybody! In order to make room for our spring stock of goods from New York, we will sell our extensive stock of clothing, regardless of cost for the next thirty days. Our object not being the cost of the goods so much as the CASH! MONISH FOR THE FREIGHT. Wm. Cartter & Co., 108, Front street.

DR. C. W. COOL,
DENTIST.
THOSE WHO DESIRE FIRST-CLASS DENTAL SERVICES ought do well to give him a call. He is making a NEW AND IMPROVED VULCANITE PLATE. The nature of his improvement consists in lining the entire concave surface with fine gold, it makes the plate twice as strong and one third times thinner than the common vulcanite plate. It also prevents the acids of the mouth from roughing the plate, and from turning it black, which is a common occurrence. One half of the common vulcanite plates turn black after being in use a short time, particularly where tobacco is used for smoking. His new style of plate admits of a very fine finish on the concave or palate surface. His office is the only place where such work can be had. The improvement is his own invention, for which he has received December 3d, 1867, a patent from the United States Patent Office. He has been making this style of work for the last two and a half years, and has specimens of the work which can be seen at his office. This work has given satisfaction in every case.

Bread and Butter

The girl engaged in making bread
Should make some sweet her butter
With hope to get that daisy maid
Who makes his bread and butter

She may not play the game to crochet
Or French as I German studies
If well she be she will be decked
And makes sweet bread and butter

In musical exam she will be
A failure at the piano
But says the will be a happy
She'll make his bread and butter

The daisy maid the farmer's wife
Shall be the least worthy
Without good bread and butter

PACIFIC RAILROADS

THE DUTY OF CONGRESS AND THE INTEREST OF THE PEOPLE—OUR PUBLIC DOMAIN AND THE MEANS OF IMPROVING IT

The Railroad Record in a recent date has an article on the development of our public domain, from which we take the following

There are two very important subjects that will claim a due share of the attention of Congress during the present session: 1st the early and extension of the public domain and 2d the best means of improving what we already possess as well as what we may hereafter acquire and the consequent duty of Congress based on the real and permanent interest of the whole people. The extent of the public domain, as shown by the report of the Commissioner of the General Land Office is 1,465,468,800 acres, to this has been added by the purchase of Alaska, 365,530,600 making a total of 1,834,998,400 acres unoccupied farm of the public land of the United States. While to this should be added what manifest destiny indicates, sooner or later (if not before the expiration of the present session of Congress) will belong to our Government, say the Hudson's Bay Territory of 2,500,000 square miles, or 1,600,000,000 acres and if the United States of Mexico, the States of Sonora, California Coahuila 87,172 square Leagues or 76,930,560 acres, and Chihuahua 61,088,640 acres and Lower California as large as both and if we estimate that its area will cover the private landed property of the three Mexican States we will still make an addition to our vast domain the unsignificant array of 1,738,819,200 acres. It is to this vast estate that we say that Congress must pay some attention, and if they fail to make provisions for its settlement and development they will be false to the trust reposed in them by the people and come short of their duty as stewards of the Almighty, who has committed into their hands this means of conferring immeasurable happiness on the human family by extending the area of civilization, relieving the crowded countries of the Old World and diffusing the benefits of an enlightened, industrious and free and homeowning christianity.

THE MODE OF IMPROVEMENT

That the construction of railroads through the public domain is the best, most certain, as well as the quickest method of improving and developing either an old settled or a new country, of course, will not for a moment be questioned, indeed, it does not admit of a question. The only question in this matter for our consideration is, how shall construct them, shall it be only through government aid, or shall it be left entirely to private enterprise, or shall it be by a combination of both. The policy heretofore adopted of encouraging private enterprise to engage in the construction of these great works of internal improvement by subsidies of land has been the wisest as well as the cheapest method of promoting their construction. In appropriating the land for such purposes the government does not make a donation, it merely awards a portion of the many very limited value for service or outlay in rendering the remainder of its property of a fixed and market value. The only objection to the principle which the Government is imbued by its early policy and outlay expended by the beneficiaries of the land grants. The value of these land grants are, however, frequently not, generally, of a speculative character, their value being fixed at what they are worth when the improvements have been made some years, which is the criterion by what are they worth at the time of the appropriation. This is the view who are conscientiously opposed to Government and to public works ever but little thought, if any, would be required to convince the error.

The late action of the Canadian Parliament, it will be readily seen that if we do not push forward the great work of improvement and settle the wilderness of our territory and seize the reins of commercial greatness, that they will be in the hands of our competitors. The construction of our Northern Pacific Railroad will put an end to the Hudson's Bay enterprise and will not only secure to us the trade of the Hudson's Bay Territory to its line but will greatly facilitate the emigration for the speedy and more reasonable settlement of that vast territory.

The aid asked for by the resolutions recently introduced into Congress by Mr. Ramsey of Minnesota, I only guaranteeing the interest on the stock at five per cent. does not in any way increase the public debt, and hence is much more favorable than the plan of the Government [illegible] becoming responsible for the indebtedness of the company. There may be no doubt but the resources of the country will settle and the sale of lands after the road is completed will enable it to pay the interest without calling on the Government but the value of the land to the Government in the reduced cost of transportation of military stores and the advantages in case of war either with a foreign power or with Indian tribes, are [illegible] of no inconsiderable importance. Celerity of movement, no less than magnitude of force, counts, the soul, of strategy and gives force to the "sinews of war."

One word remark and we close. We regret that the construction of the Northern Pacific Railroad should be coupled by Mr. Ramsey with so many contingencies. The necessity for the construction is so great that it should not be jeopardized by any possible contingency, however, while the other matters presented in the resolution will require time for both of which serious opposition may arise, the construction of the Northern Pacific Railroad should be pushed forward with a vigor equal if not superior, to that displayed in the construction of the other routes. It may then become the vehicle by which the schemes of aggrandizement will be fulfilled and the dreamy destiny of the vast extent of our country, from the Equator to the Pole become a [illegible]

JOHNSON'S POSITION ON THE "ALABAMA" CLAIMS.—The Tribune of February 3d has the following dispatch from Washington

The question relative to the action of the Administration in regard to the Alabama claims is by some persons, considered premature, while others insist that it is a mere feather—cheap bid by Mr. Johnson for popularity. It is known however, that the Government's views have been somewhat changed within the last five or six weeks, and the purport of the correspondence with the Derby Ministry having determined the Executive to take a new departure in the matter. It is given out that the Secretary of State and the President do not entirely agree upon the course to be pursued. Mr Johnson is in favor of submitting the unsettled question at rights question as well as the question of naturalization to arbitration, but this is not the point at which the English authorities broke off the negotiations. In consequence of England's refusal to allow the slightest scrutiny of her conduct in the matter, the United States Government has determined to assert positively that the claims must be paid and matter adjusted either within or outside the question of protection to American citizens in Europe. The President entirely concurs in the views presented in Mr Bank's report, and intends to take speedy action in the matter of those now detained in British prisons.

Rev T B Beecher says the following expression to an undoubted fact. The less a man knows and the more liquor he drinks the more determined he is to make this a white man's government.'

DICKENS INTERVIEWED.—We have to go to Europe for personal information about Dickens. Here is a paragraph from the Philadelphia correspondence of the London Times

Mr Charles Dickens evidently has confidence in the American five twenty bonds. Mr Dolby his agent has been in Wall street lately investing considerable sums in these bonds the profits he has already secured from his American readings. Mr Dickens reads in New York this week. His welcome is as enthusiastic as ever and all the seats for every reading now announced are sold. He can crowd the largest halls in the country for an interminable period with admiring listeners and were he to stay five years in America could earn at least $5 00 net per diem every week. Mr Dickens himself is pleased with the welcome given him as it says it has surpassed his most extravagant expectations

UNION COUNTY CONVENTION.

A Union County Convention for Multnomah County will be held at the Court House in the City of Portland on Saturday, the 7th day of March A D 1868 for the purpose of electing twelve delegates to the Union State Convention to be held at Salem on the 24th day of March 1868.

All voters in the several precincts in said County who during the late rebellion, were in sympathy with the Union and in favor of the war for the maintenance of our Nationality and who are willing to add the Union party by their support are requested to meet at their respective places of voting, on the 29th day of February, 1868, to select delegates to attend said County Convention based upon the Union vote for Governor at the June election, A D 1866, at the rate of one delegate for every twenty votes, and one for each fraction over one half. The Precincts are entitled to delegates as follows

Medical.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr Gibbon's Dispensary,

616 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL San Francisco Established in 1854 for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases such as Gonorrhœa Gleet Stricture Syphilis in all its forms Seminal Weakness Impotency etc Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons both male and female are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene Let parents guardians friends attend to those who are suffering with any of those horrible life-destroying maladies ere that they are cared for and cured before it be too late Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious medicine It is important to those who are afflicted or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions the consequence of self abuse This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combated by scientific medical measures: Pain in the Small of the back, Indistinct vision, Nervous debility, Confusion of ideas, Confirmed Consumption, Loss of confidence, Aversion to society, Loss of memory, Incapacity for study, Blushes, Pimples and various eruptions about the face, Furred tongue, Fetid breath, Cough, Consumption might sweats, Spermatorrhœa and Impotency. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr Gibbon will give One Thousand Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he has cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage who are suffering under any of those fearful maladies should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure or make no charge

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr Gibbon stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country with full and plain directions for use. Two Dollars must in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co
